

The Critical Project Success Factor:

bridging the communication "Gap" between business and technical people

What are the causes of IT projects cancellations, cost overruns, under deliveries?

Why do many solutions fail to realize business value and the full potential of technology investments?

